Celebrating Centennial Campaign in Sunny Southwest Florida

SUNY Canton alumni and friends gathered recently in sunny South-west Florida to celebrate the college’s 100-year anniversary and to publicly announce its Centennial Campaign. It was the largest alumni event outside of New York State in SUNY Canton history. Blanche K. and Ronald L. Woodcock ’59 hosted the poolside reception at the beautiful West Bay Club in Estero, Florida on Saturday, February 18.

Amidst palm trees and the setting sun, the gathering was a special event recognizing the start of this year’s Centennial Celebration. Ron and Blanche are the Co-Chairs of the Centennial Campaign: Cultivating the Minds of Tomorrow.

While speaking at the reception, Ron announced the Centennial Campaign’s goal of raising $10 million in donations.

“Blanche and Ron have been wonderful, longtime supporters of SUNY Canton,” Kennedy said. “They have given back to the college in so many ways, including countless hours advising and volunteering on committees and boards. It has been an honor and a pleasure for me and my wife Dine to get to know them as colleagues and friends. Through Ron’s leadership, this campaign will change SUNY Canton for generations to come.”

The Centennial Campaign is a comprehensive campaign raising funds to increase scholarships, upgrade technologies, improve facilities infrastructure, support faculty enhancements, improve student life, and increase unrestricted endowments.

Canton Chamber Honors Family Business of SUNY Canton Alumni

A father and three sons who all attended SUNY Canton were recently honored when their family business was recognized as the 2005 Canton Chamber of Commerce Member of the Year.

Ellis Curtis ’56 and his three sons, Jim, Duane, and Ron, have owned LeBerge and Curtis, Inc., for over 50 years. The award comes as an addition to the family’s recent industry Circle of Excellence Award and John Deere Gold Star Dealer Award.

Among those who congratulated the Curtis family was SUNY Canton President Joseph L. Kennedy, who was the 2004 recipient of the Canton Chamber’s award.

“Congratulations to the Curtis Family for earning this award,” Kennedy said. “They’ve been a positive influence in the North Country for over 50 years and we are proud to call them SUNY Canton alumni.”

Ron said, “We’ve been very fortunate and we’re very honored to carry on our family tradition. We are very grateful to our father for giving us this opportunity.”

The Curtis family sells and services John Deere products and Club Car golf carts through their Mid State Golf Car division. Canton Chamber of Commerce president Jeff Proulx ’84 is also a SUNY Canton alumnus.

Although they didn’t come home with any medals, a pair of SUNY Canton alumni traveled to Italy recently and impacted how the rest of us viewed the 2006 Winter Olympics.

Alumni Bob Hughes ’75 and Frederick C. Liebi ’66 both went to Torino for media-related projects at the games.

Hughes was the producer for the Olympic luge, bobsled, and skeleton broadcasts. He was responsible for coordinating the cameras used to film the events, including which angles and the timing of the footage aired as the racers sped down the mountains of Italy.

Hughes is a partner with Carr-Hughes Productions, located in Greenfield Center, near Saratoga Springs. His company produces motocross, equestrian, and curling television broadcasts.

Hughes was a competitive luge athlete after graduating from SUNY Canton. He went on to coach the 1984 U.S. Olympic luge team in Sarajevo before moving to television production.

Hughes said that about 78 people from 10 nations were working full time on the shows and mentioned some of the remarkable resources he worked with while producing the events. “I had 45 cameras at my disposal,” Hughes said. “Only at the Olympics do you have this kind of budget.”

There were blimp-mounted cameras and a specialty sled-mounted camera which would follow the Olympians throughout their races. “As the producer, I set up everything to create the environment for almost every shot as it’s happening,” Hughes said.

Fred Liebi ’66 of Baldwinsville said he and his wife Karen attended the Opening Ceremonies and had the chance to meet several athletes.

Fred’s company, FCL Management, Inc., created a unique dome-shaped structure for NBC’s Today Show which will be used again at future Olympic games. Fred went to Italy to help create a concrete base that wouldn’t damage the cobblestone paving of the Torino streets. Fred then remained in Torino to offer assistance for the Today Show staff.

“One advantage of being on the Today Show set is being able to meet and talk with the athletes who appear on the show,” Fred mentioned. “We really could see each athlete’s joy, energy, and poise.”

Fred and Karen toured Torino, visiting some of the city’s museums. “The city is rich with history,” Fred pointed out. “And let us not forget the many excellent restaurants and stores.”

Fred recently served more than 10 years as SUNY Canton’s Alumni Association President. Last year, Fred and Karen created the Liebi Endowed Scholarship at SUNY Canton.
Dean Arthur Hurlbut Wins National Award

Canino School of Engineering Technology Dean Arthur G. Hurlbut was recently honored with the E.K. Campbell Award of Merit from the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air Conditioning Engineers (ASHRAE), during the Society’s 2006 Winter Meeting in Chicago. Hurlbut (left) received the award from ASHRAE President and Professional Engineer Lee Burgett.

The ASHRAE award was presented to honor Hurlbut’s outstanding service and achievement in teaching. ASHRAE is an organization operated for the exclusive purpose of advancing the arts and sciences of heating, ventilation, air conditioning, and refrigeration.

Professor Emeritus Harry King and ASHRAE Historian Paul Britton recommended Hurlbut for the award. King was Hurlbut’s teacher in 1965 and later hired Hurlbut. Hurlbut graduated with an associate degree in Air Conditioning Engineering Technology and went on to get his bachelor’s, master’s, and doctorate.

“Heart is one of the most congenial people that I know,” King said. “He’s very good at tackling engineering problems, he’s good with students, and he’s very well versed with computers. He was a top student when I taught him, and he’s an outstanding teacher now.”

Hurlbut is a man of many passions. He is excited by the college’s endeavors to study Alternative and Renewable Energy Applications. He is also an aviation and motorcycle enthusiast. He has volunteered with area youth and the Experimental Aircraft Association. Hurlbut received the SUNY Canton Distinguished Faculty Award in 2002.

Emeriti Employees Honored

Six SUNY Canton employees were recently honored with emeriti status.

“We would like to thank these esteemed members of the SUNY Canton community for their tremendous loyalty and contributions,” said President Joseph L. Kennedy. “Over the years, they have helped to shape SUNY Canton and contribute greatly to our success.”

Theodore E. Marlowe was named Professor Emeritus after serving 26 years in the Criminal Justice Department.

“Ted Marlowe and Dave Guccione (a retired Criminal Justice Professor) were responsible for the creation of the first four-year degree on campus,” said Kennedy.

Douglas V. Rose was named Associate Professor Emeritus for serving 23 years with the School of Liberal Studies.

Michael Gordon was recognized as Professor Emeritus for his 36 years of service.

Gordon is a previous recipient of the Chancellor’s Award for Excellence in Teaching, the New York State Council on Economic Education Award for Outstanding Service in Economic Education, and the SUNY Canton Distinguished Faculty Award.

Bert A. Corey was named Small Business Development Center (SBDC) Director Emeritus for his eight years of service. Corey now serves as the mayor of Antwerp.

“If you want to see what Bert has done with his career, just drive around the North Country and see the jobs where there weren’t jobs before and businesses where there weren’t businesses before,” said Kennedy.

George L. Leedom (not pictured) was named Professor Emeritus for serving 24 years as a chemistry professor in the School of Science, Health and Professional Studies.

Joel E. Bixby was named Director of Career Services Emeritus for serving SUNY Canton for 35 years. Bixby began his career as an Admissions Advisor in 1970.

Alumni Weekend 2006 will be offering a historic chance to reconnect with your alma-mater while celebrating 100 years of SUNY Canton success. All alumni are invited to return to campus June 2 to 4. The Centennial Gala on June 3 is one of the highlights of the weekend. It will feature music, food, dancing, beverages, as well as live and silent auctions.

“The Gala will be one of the cornerstones of our year-long Centennial Celebration,” said SUNY Canton President Joseph L. Kennedy. “I am looking forward to a wonderful evening that will enable us to pave an even better financial pathway for students in years to come.”

The Gala Committee has been procuring a wide array of wonderful donations, which will be put to the auction block by Professional Auctioneer Kip Blanchard ’92 and his wife Sue. Proceeds from the auction will establish an unrestricted scholarship endowment fund for students.

Also on this year’s Alumni Weekend schedule of events are the extremely popular wine and cheese tasting, the Texas hold-em poker tournament, a golf outing and much more.

Sustainable Energy Fair Comes to SUNY Canton

Assistant Professor Michael J. Newtown ’84 will be among those presenting at the upcoming Community Energy Service’s 2006 North Country Sustainable Energy Fair, May 5 - 7. Newtown will teach in SUNY Canton’s Alternative and Renewable Energy Applications four-year program this fall.

Former Hockey Players Still Winning Titles

Although their competitive playing days may be over, several former SUNY Canton hockey players have continued to win championships and enjoy success from behind the bench.

Bob Rosen ’81, East Amherst, coached Williamsville North High School to a NYS Division I Championship by downing Aquinas 1-0. The Spartans beat Canton High School 4-1 in the semi-finals. He was named the NYS D-I Coach of the Year. Rosen is an independent financial planner and investment counselor. This summer, he will attempt to qualify for the NYS Amateur Golf Tournament Championship.

Ranked #1 or #2 in the country for almost the entire season, Coach Paul Flanagan’s ’78 St. Lawrence University women’s team captured the ECAC Hockey League regular season title with a 16-2-2 record and an overall record of 30-3-2. The Saints finished the regular season on a 12-game winning streak and received a bid to play in the NCAA Championship tourney.

The men’s side of the ECAC Hockey League also featured a championship winning SUNY Canton alumni coach. Don Vaughn ’81 and the Colgate Red Raiders were regular season co-champions with a 14-6-2 regular season record. The Red Raiders were headed to the ECACHL semifinals with a 20-11-6 overall record, marking the first time in school history the team has recorded three consecutive 20-win seasons.

In his sixth season at the helm of the Hobart Statesmen, Mark Taylor ’83 has guided the team to its first 20-win season and an NCAA Division III Final Four appearance. Taylor has been named the ECAC West Coach of the Year in three of the last four seasons (2003, 2004, and 2006). Prior to Taylor’s arrival in 2000, Hobart had never posted consecutive winning seasons. The Statesmen have now recorded four straight winning seasons.

Mercyhurst Head Coach Rick Gotkin ’80 led his team to a 22-12-1 record heading into the semifinals of the Division I Atlantic Hockey championships. Gotkin is in his 18th year at Mercyhurst and is the longest tenured coach in Mercyhurst history. He has also recorded more wins than any other coach in the school’s history.

In his first year as head coach at Monroe Community College, Craig Chamberlain ’85 steered the Tribunes to an impressive 17-7-1 record, falling in the NJCAA semifinals 4-3.

Hockey Reunion

Celebrating 45 years of championship hockey, the largest hockey reunion in SUNY Canton history will take place on July 14-16. Players, coaches, and fans are all invited. For more information contact Beth Irvine at 800-811-6727 or irvine10@canton.edu. Be sure to also check out the hockey reunion message board at www.canton.edu/alumni/hockey.

“It was a special evening and we were pleased to welcome so many wonderful SUNY Canton alumni and friends to the reception,” Blanche said. “Ron and I are very proud to be so involved with the college and its Centennial Celebration.”

Ron Woodcock is a longstanding member of the College Foundation and previously Co-Chaired SUNY Canton’s first ever fundraising campaign. In 1990, the Woodcocks established the Woodcock Family Scholarship Endowment. That same year, Ron was honored as the recipient of the New York State Alumni Confederation Distinguished Alumni Service Award. He has also been recognized by SUNY Canton as the 1989 Distinguished Alumnus Award recipient.

Ron encouraged other alumni to donate to the Centennial Campaign. “My years at SUNY Canton changed my life in a way that made it possible for me to establish Woodcock & Associates in Syracuse and experience a measure of success as an HVAC Contractor,” he said. “Blanche and I are pleased to be able to give back and make a difference in the lives of current and future SUNY Canton students. We challenge other alumni to do the same during this year’s Centennial Celebration because every gift will make a difference.”
