

ST. LAWRENCE COUNTY MULTIPLE/MASS CASUALTY RESPONSE PLAN

INTRODUCTION

Our society has experienced many changes in recent years. Advances in all aspects of modern technology have helped shrink our world and bring us closer together. Although most of us would applaud our rapid progress, it is not without its drawbacks. The very same attributes that typify growth also create dangerous and complex conditions to which Fire and Rescue Services professionals must respond. Even the rural areas of our nation are not immune to possible disaster, either man-made or natural. As professionals our methods of handling day to day medical emergencies work well. However, our usual procedures may not apply when we are confronted with a multiple victim or mass casualty incident. Because of the complexity of multiple patient management, a streamlined mode of operation is in order.

This Multiple/Mass Casualty Incident Plan (MCI) has been designed to be used as a tool to help provide an effective rescue and fire service response to an MCI, specifically incorporation all levels of emergency medical resources including, but not limited to, physicians, nurses, public, and private medical service provider agencies. The plan intends to establish a systematic organization in order to provide appropriate emergency medical services when a multiple victim incident occurs. Implementation of this plan will be a benefit to all involved if these procedures become second nature to those who respond to future multiple victim and mass casualty incidents.

By definition, an MCI is any medical emergency that overwhelms the normal first response units. It is characterized first by the number of victims, obviously, and second by a glaring need to streamline all phases of communication during the transport. If the incident is too large or complex to be handled as a multiple casualty incident, the plan can be enlarged to accommodate a mass casualty without any change in the basic structure of the plan.

GOALS

In overview, the plan calls for a tiered-response to MCIs such that all mutual aid units, both on stand-by and sent to the scene, are pre-selected and justifiably used. Each rescue district has at least one MCI plan, with some having as many as three. This is a result due to the large districts located in the southern part of the county and numerous units to be utilized in the north. An unconfirmed MCI condition is provided for those incidents that have a potential of large numbers of patients, but cannot be confirmed until arrival on scene. This condition puts five (5) to seven (7) units on stand-by until the responding unit requests an upgrade of the plan.

The confirmed MCI first alarm is what is generally going to be used. It provides for the dispatch of five to seven ambulances to the scene of an MCI, with stand-by coverage for those units automatically done by the dispatcher. A second alarm request will result in the dispatch of an additional five to seven units to the scene with, again, stand-bys automatically done by the dispatcher. Each rescue district has, included in its plan, local hospital information, rescue trucks, and equipment within twenty-five miles. Every effort has been made to include all pertinent information and to make the job of the dispatcher as easy as possible.
