

Deffo Fonhoue '26

Douala, Cameroon

Hey there! I'm Deffo, a curious hands-on kind of student who somehow survives both thermodynamics and New York winters. I joined SUNY Canton in 2025 with a dream to build, design, and maybe one day fix more than just machines (like my sleep schedule).

When I'm not buried in projects, you'll probably find me giving campus tours (yes, I'm that student ambassador guy with way too much energy), overthinking how to start a conversation, or trying to convince people that Boston is better than NYC (don't fight me on this – I have blueprints to prove it). As a student ambassador, I enjoy meeting new people and sharing what makes SUNY Canton a unique and welcoming place. Whether it's helping future students feel at home, or answering questions about campus life and academics, I'm always happy to connect.

Come say hi! I'm chill, a bit goofy, and always down to talk engineering, fitness, or the best jollof rice recipe!

GREAT MAJORS,
GREAT CAREERS.
