

Jacob Dishaw '27

Ogdensburg, New York

My name is Jacob Dishaw, and I am in my junior year in the Criminal Investigation major. I am set to receive my bachelors degree in May 2027, and will become a Lieutenant in the Army afterwards. I chose to come to SUNY Canton because of the Criminal Justice Program, and I was drawn to all of various resources and opportunities provided to me at and around campus. I knew it would best prepare me for challenges that would lie ahead in the future. As many of my professors have great experience within their past careers, especially within the military, law enforcement, and within government agencies. They have all helped me a lot with choices with my future career in the military. Outside of SUNY Canton, I am crossed-enrolled in Army ROTC over at Clarkson University. A program that will train me to a future leader in the Army and to uphold its values.

This is my first semester as a student ambassador. I love connecting with the students around campus, and I'm incredibly grateful to have the opportunity to meet new prospective students. It allows me to share my experiences and learn some of theirs as well. When I am not in class or working, I enjoy fitness, video games, and especially travelling.

GREAT MAJORS,
GREAT CAREERS.
