

Lauren Jennings `24
Kirkwood, New York

My name is Lauren Jennings, and I am currently a senior in the Veterinary Technology program. Out of all the schools to choose from, I chose Canton because it reminded me of home, as well as the awesome Vet Tech program. I truly love this campus and everything it has to offer for new and returning students, like all the events we throw that you can get prizes from, build your own teddy bear, and watch movies in the Kingston Theater. Also, being an animal lover, the college is very pet friendly. I got to bring my guinea pigs to campus with me, and my friends also brought their cats, fish and other small animals as well!

When I'm not in Payson or Newell studying, you can mostly find me in my dorm wing hanging out with my friends and with all our animals playing in the lounge. Aside from school, I love going to the SPCA in Potsdam and helping them out with whatever they need done. Last but certainly not least, I am a new student ambassador for the Office of Admissions, where I give tours of our campus to prospective students and their families.

GREAT MAJORS,
GREAT CAREERS.
