

Steaven Ajoumou`25

Yaounde, Cameroon

My name is Ajoumou Landry Steaven, an international student in my final semester of the Business Management B.S. program at SUNY Canton. I chose SUNY Canton because of its strong academic reputation, the support offered to international students, and the hands-on learning opportunities in business and finance.

Throughout my studies, I have developed a strong interest in finance, management, and entrepreneurship, which I hope to use to make a difference in both my local and global community. The professors here are very supportive, knowledgeable, and bring real-world experience to the classroom, which has greatly enhanced my learning.

Outside of class, I am actively involved in student life and enjoy participating in business club activities and multicultural events. These experiences have helped me build leadership skills, connect with other students, and broaden my global perspective.

This is my final semester, and I am excited to graduate and apply what I've learned. I enjoy meeting new people, learning from others, and exploring the diverse cultures represented on campus. SUNY Canton has truly been a transformative place for me.

GREAT MAJORS, GREAT CAREERS.
