During my 10 years as a professor in English & Communications, I have taught introductory writing, creative writing, literature, first-year experience, and more. In the past, I also served as an advisor to the campus Game Club, in which we would host video game tournaments prior to the development of our E-Sports team. I have worked with Jump Start since the program's inception in a variety of capacities, including instructor and faculty mentor. I enjoy working at SUNY Canton in part because I was a student here once myself, graduating eons ago with an A.A. in Liberal Arts. I also enjoy working here because the broad range of student perspectives helps expand my own understanding of how the world works.

As for my hobbies, I enjoy writing, playing guitar, listening to any new music I can get my hands on (music is one of the key indicators of whether or not we have succumbed to stagnation. It is important to always expand your horizons and listen to new music, especially after 30). I also spend time with my wife and two children, who are 9 and 15. I'm looking forward to working with you in a digital capacity this summer!
